ATTACK ON TERRESTRIAL HEALTH SHOW ENDS

Democratic Orators Call Exhibit Attended by More Than 100,000 Persons.

PRASE FOR GOV. WILSON NEEDS OF WASHINGTON

But Laudations Intermingle With Harsh Words for Colonel.

HOPE FOR DISTRICT SUFFRAGE DR. SCHERESCHESKY PLEADED

Local Association Addressed by Levi David, Charles Douglas and Thomas Monaghan.

Denunciation of Theodore Roosevelt and his third-term aspirations, intermingled with expressions of hope for suffrage in the District of Columbia, were the principal feature of the speaking which the Wilson and Marshall Democratic Association held in the Southern building last night. So strong was the tide of oratory against the third term that for a while the Wilsons had the appearance of an exclusive anti-third term gathering rather than a Wilson meeting. When the speakers of the evening were not expounding the Wilson tariff doctrine they were calling the third term a tyrant and applying other harsh epithets.

Levi David sounded the suffrage key-note, although his speech had to do principally with the tariff and democratic principles in general as opposed to republican policies. Making a local issue of suffrage, he declared that it was his honest belief that a democratic President and a democratic Congress would put into effect the principles of Thomas Jefferson and give the National Capital a voice in the government. Mr. David accused the republican party of being tied and kept by moneyed interests, and called attention to the fact, as he explained it, that all the unrest of the present day grew up under the Roosevelt regime.

Also Advocates District Suffrage.

Charles Douglas, president of the association, became interested in the question of suffrage in the District, and warmed up the subject almost before he knew it.

"If Gov. Wilson comes to the White House," he said, "I am sure he will use his might and his right to wipe out this sore spot and to harmonize our nation with democratic principles. We will have under him a restoration of public and civil life. We will be able to participate in public affairs, so that our people can realize we are a part of the government. Now we are far from the will of Congress. We obey Commissioners we do not choose, and bow to acts of Congress of all kinds and every character. It makes no sense to say yes or no to them. We cannot control our police force, nor even the hour of opening our schools, our manhood is humiliated, and the democratic party would not dare to let this sore spot remain. Whether a democrat or a republican is elected, let us organize to undo the injustice that has existed so long."

Says Colonel Is Despot.

Thomas Monaghan of Johnston, Pa., began the attack upon the third term. His comparatively mild introduction to his address was to call the colonel an "unscrupulous despot," and emphasized opposition to the third-term idea by saying: "I am sure that George Washington refused. He drew a vivid picture of the country under Roosevelt, likening it to an absolute tyranny, and that the banishment of Col. Stewart by Roosevelt brought to mind the discharge of a messenger of peace."

Mr. Monaghan used several illustrations to prove his claim that a democratic Republic would be the country through tariff reductions alone.

CHARLES LINKINS TO AID LOCAL REPUBLICAN FIGHT

Named Assistant Treasurer of Campaign—New Club Governors Named.

Following a most enthusiastic meeting of local Republicans at the headquarters of the National Republican Club last night, Charles Linkins was announced as assistant treasurer for the local campaign to co-operate with Chapin Brown, national committeeman for the District of Columbia. The appointment of Mr. Linkins, which had been recommended by Mr. Brown, came direct from the headquarters of the republican national committee in New York, and was signed by George R. Sheldon, national treasurer for the Taft and Sherman campaign. It was explained that Mr. Brown had stated that the appointment of Mr. Linkins to this important post in the campaign was a satisfaction to him, and that financial interests here the results probably would be entirely creditable.

Edgar C. Snyder, president of the club, presided at the meeting. The success of Taft and Sherman was predicted by Chapin Brown, William E. Andrews, Charles Linkins and others.

Platform and Candidates Indorsed. The club indorsed and ratified the republican candidates and platform in a set of resolutions which declared the cry of "stop thief" to be factional and unwarranted. Faith in the Chicago nomination methods was reiterated; and of special interest to Washington was the paragraph in the resolution recommending the President's efforts in behalf of government employees, emphasizing particularly the features of the evening. The endorsement of a committee composed of William C. Connor, chairman; M. M. Potts, Russell C. Balderson, James E. Barker and Charles X. Pratt. The music committee was composed of William F. Ruckert, chairman; Arthur W. Hodgkins, M. L. Reliance, E. A. M. Lawson and Col. W. Wallace.

SUED BY HIS SERVANTS.

Wealthy California Resident Asked for False Imprisonment Damages. SAN FRANCISCO, October 5.—Nicholas J. McNamee, the wealthy resident of San Mateo who caused the arrest in New York of his wife, housekeeper and chauffeur, as they were en route to Europe, has been made defendant in two suits for $25,000 each brought by the servants for alleged false imprisonment. The plaintiffs, Mrs. Cora M. Perkins, and her husband, Charles, base their suits on the fact that they were held in custody for nineteen days by the New York police. The suits were filed last night after regular hours in an apparent effort to keep them secret.

HEALTH SHOW ENDS

Exhibit Attended by More Than 100,000 Persons.

NEEDS OF WASHINGTON

Lecturers Tell How City Could Be Improved Hygienically.

DR. SCHERESCHESKY PLEADED

Believes Thinking People Have Been Aroused to Realization of Certain Unrealized Conditions.

One of the largest evening crowds that have attended the health exhibit in the Red Cross building, at 17th and B streets northwest, in the three weeks during which it has been open to the public, was present last night for the final lectures, and when the doors of the exhibition hall closed for good shortly after 10 o'clock Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky and others who have been in charge of the big health show announced that the exhibit had been a complete success.

Attendance was large all day yesterday, and the announcement was made last night by Dr. Schereschewsky that considering the exhibit since it opened. It was stated that up to yesterday morning the attendance had reached the 100,000 mark, and that not far from 10,000 persons were present yesterday and last night.

The program last night was arranged as a symposium on the hygiene and sanitation needs of Washington, the addresses being limited to seven in number. Walter S. Ford, secretary of the association, presided. Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky opened the symposium with a talk on "A Clean City Campaign," in which he told of the things necessary to make a city clean and then to keep it in that condition. He referred to the benefits, financial and to the matter of health, cleanliness and attractiveness, to be gained from a rigidly enforced program of municipal cleanliness, and declared that the nearly 100,000 people of Washington in general are all that is needed to make the capital of the nation a model for American cities.

Conditions in Alleys.

Alley conditions in Washington were described by Rev. John Van Schaick, Jr., president of the Monday Evening Club, who told of the work of that organization in helping the District authorities to get rid of the alley streets such as Willow Tree alley and others, which he characterized as disease and crime-breeding centers.

Dr. Taylor-Jones told of methods by which the high mortality among babies of Washington may be reduced, urging the use of milk sterilized by the pure pasteurized milk may be had, either free or at a nominal price, for feeding babies. A milk supply of milk that is pure, wholesome and free from any kind of germs or bacilli, the speaker declared, is the prime requisite if the death rate among infants in Washington is to be materially reduced.

The need of an open-air school for tuberculous children of Washington was urged by Prof. Selden M. Ely, supervising principal of the fifth district, who pointed out the necessity of the establishment of a school where children either affected with tuberculosis or suffering from the disease, could be sent to a sanatorium. Such schools in other cities, it was stated, have proven of incalculable benefit, not only as a means of restoring the health of children attacked by tuberculosis, but as a safeguard by which other children, as yet unaffected, may be protected against infection.

Care of Feeble-Minded.

"Better Provision for the Feeble-Minded" was the theme of a ten-minute talk by George S. Wilson, secretary of the board of charities, who pointed out the inadequate provision made in Washington for the care of the feeble-minded. He urged the necessity for a law which would prevent the marriage of persons of feeble mind. Sterilization of the feeble-minded was urged as a means of preventing the transmission of a continual increase in numbers of this class of unfortunate.

Dr. Percy Hickling of the Government Asylum for the Insane, spoke of the need of a psychopathic clinic in Washington, at which the mental capacity of both children and adults could be carefully tested, with a view to weeding out the mentally unfit and preventing their procreation. The closing address was by Dr. William C. Gwynn, who urged the enactment of a law providing for the compulsory sterilization of feeble-minded and dangerous tuberculosis patients, who, through ignorance, stupidity or downright refusal to heed sanitary regulations, act as mediums for the transmission of the disease, and are as dangerous to the community as persons suffering with smallpox. The establishment of a modern, well-equipped sanatorium for such patients was urged as absolutely necessary to the successful battle against tuberculosis is to be waged in the District of Columbia.

Dr. Murray Discusses "Flies."

The lecture yesterday afternoon by Dr. Arthur L. Murray of the District health department on "Flies" was one of the most interesting talks of the week's series of Washington lectures. Dr. Murray referred to the common housefly as "the international insect," and "the typhoid fly," declaring it to be one of the gravest factors in the spread of disease. According to Dr. Murray, the housefly constitutes about 95 per cent of all flies found in and about human habitations, and is one of the most commonest members of the insect world, being found in nearly every country known to man.

P. C. Cowell of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, spoke yesterday afternoon on concrete construction, especially from the standpoint of the use of concrete in the construction of a modern, well-equipped sanatorium for such patients was urged as absolutely necessary to the successful battle against tuberculosis is to be waged in the District of Columbia.

Carried "Wedding" Clothes. Tomorrow has a new suit of clothes with which he had bought them to serve as his wedding garments, he told the police. His relatives were yesterday notified of his whereabouts.

Miss Mary E. Young, said to live at South Wallingford, Vt., was in a nervous condition when taken to the Washington Asylum Hospital yesterday for observation. She was taken from her room at 1317 11th street, complaint having been made to the police and acting sanitary officer that her conduct indicated mental derangement.

Two physicians were called to the house to examine her. Later the necessary affidavits were filed with Acting Sanitary Officer Lynn. It is said she was nervous and hysterical when taken to the hospital.

James Morrow, fifty-eight years old, who came here three days ago from Beaver, Pa., is under observation at the Washington Asylum Hospital, the police having arrested him in the northeast section of the city.

"I'm going to marry Grover Cleveland's daughter tomorrow," is the statement attributed to him by the police.

ADDRESS BY COL. STRATTAN. Feature of Meeting of the Pennsylvania Society.

An address, partly humorous and partly sober, in which the state of Pennsylvania was extolled, was the feature of the first meeting of the season of the Pennsylvania Society of this city, at Pythian Temple last evening. Col. Samuel R. Strattan, president of the society, who was the address, welcomed the returning members and told them he was glad that the season for meeting had come around once more.

E. A. Niess, secretary of the organization, made a plea for a larger membership. Plans were given by Mrs. Charles Hyer, Miss Bertha Hansen and Carl Brunner, Mrs. Walter P. Plumley, Rose of My Heart, and Miss Marie Hansen sang "I Love But Thee."

Miss Anne M. Eckert was chairman of the entertainment committee. Robert T. Fraley was announced as the chairman of the next meeting, to be held November 2.

The good which this exhibition has done for Washington cannot be measured quantitatively," said Dr. Schereschewsky. "However, I venture the prediction that the health of the city under hygienic or sanitary arrangements of the Capital city during the next five or ten years may be attributed to this exhibition."

The lectures on medical subjects given the past week at the hygiene exhibit will be continued this winter under the auspices of the District Medical Society.

WEATHER.

Fair Sunday and Probably Monday; Little Temperature Changes.

For the District of Columbia, fair Sunday and probably Monday; not much change in temperature; light variable winds.

The western disturbance has made but little progress since Friday night, but pressure has risen rapidly in its rear and the rains and snows have continued in the plateau and Rocky mountain regions with a decided fall in temperature and have extended into North Dakota. The remainder of the country the weather was warm and generally fair. The disturbance of the south Atlantic coast increased to the southward during Friday night, and storm warnings were ordered Saturday morning from Norfolk to the Gulf of Mexico. The winds following during the day.

The cold weather and rains and snows of the northwest and the extreme west will continue during Sunday, and during Sunday and Sunday night rain with much lower temperature will gradually extend through the plains states and the central valleys, reaching the eastern upper lake region and the Ohio valley by Monday. In the east and south the weather will continue fair and moderate.

The winds along the New England and middle Atlantic coasts will be moderate variable; on the south Atlantic coast moderate to strong southerly winds, with light to moderate variable, becoming southerly; on the west Gulf coast moderate to strong southerly; on the lower lakes moderate southerly, shifting to northwesterly on Michigan and Superior and becoming westerly.

FEARING MENTAL BREAK, SEEKS HAVEN IN CAPITAL

Former Soldier Comes All the Way From Indiana for Treatment.

Lee Francis, former soldier and former inmate of the Government Hospital for the Insane, came here yesterday afternoon from Connerville, Ind., and sought advice from a physician at George Washington University Hospital. He said he feared a recurrence of his mental trouble and thought he might prevent it if he obtained treatment in Washington.

Francis was in an extremely nervous condition. His conversation did not suggest to Detectives Cox and Berman, who were called to take charge of him, that he was of unsound mind. The appeal of the Connerville man was a pathetic one, and he declared that he had been in the local hospital were true.

Inquiry at the hospital developed that a man named Lee Francis had been an inmate and that he was discharged and sent to the Washington Asylum Hospital for observation, and it is possible that he will later be transferred to the Government Hospital for the Insane.

Woman, 58, Also Taken.

Miss Matilda Wurdeman, fifty-eight years old, was taken to the Government Hospital for the Insane by a policeman yesterday afternoon. She was taken from her room at 1317 11th street, complaint having been made to the police and acting sanitary officer that her conduct indicated mental derangement.

Two physicians were called to the house to examine her. Later the necessary affidavits were filed with Acting Sanitary Officer Lynn. It is said she was nervous and hysterical when taken to the hospital.
